

Decorative Pressure Cap

What is a decorative pressure cap? It is a wider profile aluminum beauty cover that gives the look of a more substantial structure (glazing bar) without the cost. Our standard hobby glazing bars have exposed screws and hardware where the decorative pressure cap (also called beauty cap) creates a high style, clean finish that is very popular with homeowners who would like a garden conservatory in their yard and prefer a more finished trim.

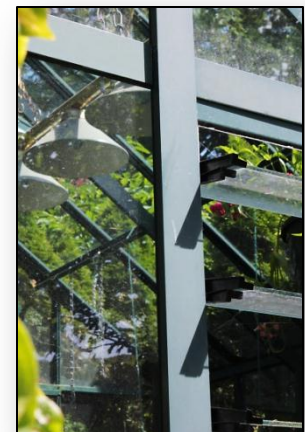

Greenhouse with decorative frame cover

Close up of greenhouse without pressure cap showing exposed hardware

Greenhouses that incorporate the decorative pressure cap are upgraded to single; one-piece 6mm tempered safety glass to ensure the pressure cap is a seamless fit. This single sheet of glass provides a substantial and streamlined design.

Exterior close up view showing no exposed hardware